

Says

Which type of houses available in metro politan area's?
Write about the house prices in metro politan area's?

House prices in metropolitan areas are usually in high rates

Most of the houses in metropolitan areas are luxuries and highly infrastructred.

Some cities and regions have seen much higher real estate growth rates in india, while others have experienced relatively little change in house prices over the same period.

This project will motivate buyers to buy a luxurious and comfortable house in India

Thinks

What are the basic needs necessary for the buyers?
In which way this project was useful for the buyers?

their needs are sufficient water facilities hygienic places

this project will help buyers to buy a house in low cost with necessary facilities

this project will help us to improve our knowledge about house marketing trends

Housing price problem is an important economic and social issue of widespread concern, which affects the life quality of urban residents and also affects the continued steady growth of national economy.

HOUSE BUYERS

It also affect the steady growth of national economy.

house price is one of the important part in determing the economy of our country.

This overall trend masks a great deal of variation at the regional level.

The average house price in india has increased by approximately 6% per year over the past 20 years.

house prices in metropolitan areas will increase along with population.

Changes in supply and demand are the direct factors for the housing price change housing price problem is an important economic and social issue which affects the life of urban residents.

This project shows the way for users to find the house which type they want and it makes buyers to feel comfortable

Does

Write about the role of the house price in india economy?
What is the change in house price for the past 20years ?

Feels

What are the reason for rise of house price in metro politan area's?
what are the changes arise in urban areas due to rise of house prices?